

Governance of the School of Humanities

The School of Humanities within the College of Arts and Sciences serves the greater university community by (1) providing instruction; (2) conducting scholarly investigations and research; and (3) applying knowledge resulting from this scholarly activity to the solution of the problems that affect Florida, the nation, and the world.

The conduct

Tenure and Promotion Committee as part of a consent agen